The greatness of Hechts' "Hour Sales"

—shines out with renewed brilliancy when compared with the feeble efforts of imitators. Special pains have been taken to make tomorrow's "hour sales" the most important ever held—and a glance through the stupendous bargain list below will tell you how well we have succeeded. Prices have been cut to the core-profits utterly ignored. Between certain hours tomorrow we give our patrons the greatest buying opportunities of the year. Carefully go through the list-something in it must surely touch upon your needs.

Everyone is offered the privilege of having purchases "charged" -and paying the bill as is most convenient.

J. J. Murphy, a saloonkeeper at No. 250
Pennsylvania Avenue, said Scanlon frequently came in his place at night, and he understood that Scanlon was employed at St. Ellisabeth at 18 St. Elizabeth's. Scanlon returned to his lodging-house after 12 o clock last night, and went to his room. There is a small window in the at-tic opening upon a slanting roof. It was out of this window that the unfortunate out of this window that the unfortunate man fell. Mrs. Thurston was awakened about 2 o'clock by the sound of a body falling on the bricks in front of the house. She went out and found Scanlon. He was conscious, but could not explain how he came to fall. Policeman Coghili was called and summoned the ambulance, which took Scanlon to Emergency Hospital. There were no external injuries, but an examination of the body showed that nearly every rib had been crushed, some of the bones penetrating the lungs.

"And it didn't really explode-well, we will look at it," said the major. The ice cooler was brought in and the object immersed. Then it was wiped dry and end had a fulminating cap, while two copper wires extended along the tube from end to end. It was an ugly-looking from end to end. It was an ugy-tooking object. Stamped on one side were the words: "February II, 1888. Insert this end first." The end referred to was the end whereon was the cap, and it was evidently intended to explode by contact with an electric current.

A second examination disclosed a hard, black substance on one end. It was finer than powder and the police officials were unable to say what it was. While it was believed to be dynamite, still the fact was not established. The tube was evidently made by experts at some dynamite tube factory, and was not the work of an in-experienced hand. Finally it was decided to have Lieut. Gessford, of No. 5 police station take the tube to the navy yard for examination.

Many old soldiers now feel the effect of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. George S. Anderson, of Rossville, York County, Pa., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he said, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr. Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors, as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequaled. PE-RU-NA Cures Catarrh.

The Only Thing Needed

To Remove Bronchitis, Catarrh, Consumption and Pneumonia

From the List of Dangerous Discases Is the Education of the People,

Ever since the discovery that catarrh, bronchitis, pneumonia and consum presence of bacilli in the air passages the medical profession throughout the whole world have bent all their energies to finding some method or remedy by which these bacilli could be reached and destroyed. How they have succeeded is best told by a glance at the reports published by the different boards of health in all the large cities in this country, which show not only a great increase in the number of deaths yearly from these diseases, but a startling growth in the number of persons afflicted. This failure to find a cure for diseases of the respiratory organs must not be construed to mean a lack of ability on the part of the medical profession, for they have discovered many remedies which would kill these germs. Yet, strange to say, not one of them could be conveyed to the parts affected by dry air. It can be readily seen, then, that the discovery of "Hyomei," a germicide of sufficient power to kill at once the bacilli of these diseases, and at the same time volatile enough to impregnate every particle of air breathed by the patient, yet leaving it free from moisture, was one of vital importance to the medical world. Doctors throughout the whole country began to test the efficacy of this new remedy and now, after two years' trial in hundreds of cases, under their own care, over 3,500 physicians claim that "Hyomei," the Australian Dry Air Cure, is the only treatment by which all the diseased parts of the respiratory organs can be reached and cured.

Furthermore, it is claimed that in families who are predisposed to catarrh and consumption, if the fathers and mothers will but instruct their children in the use of "Hyomei," the rising generation will be freed from those dread diseases. It would seem, then, that nothing remains to be done in order to remove these diseases from the list of dangerous ones but to teach the people the value of "Hyomei," whole world have bent all their energies to finding some method or remedy by
